ABOUT DCG SHUN & DCG BSAVV:

LA-via-Chicago's DCG Brothers make drill music for everyone. With the official DCG acronym standing for "Dreams Conquer Goals," the self-described "Pop Drill" maestros began taking rap music seriously in early 2020, drawing on a healthy diet of Lil Wayne, Lil Durk, G Hebro, Gunna, and more. The brothers actively learned how to rap, write, and punch in, making their music stand out in a sea of artists phoning in verses for a quick viral check. Best known for their hilarious videos, plodding flows, and nasty bars, the DCG Brothers' spirit can be easily defined by any one of their massive music videos. The video for "Mmhhh," sitting at over 2 million views, is but one of many ("Dem Faces," "Paparazzi," "OK") visual representations of two kids having a blast while carving out a new lane and making an incredible life for themselves. Spitting over minimalistic trap beats and delivering punchlines that would rival their forefathers' best material, the DCG Brothers are here to bring drill music worldwide.
