Rachel Chinouriri today shares her tender new single 'What A Life'. The track is a bonus addition to her Little House EP, released in March via Parlophone Records / Atlas Artists. 'What A Life' carries the project's loved-up spirit, with Chinouriri daydreaming about the small details of a good life lived with the person she loves. The Little House EP also features the singles 'Can We Talk About Isaac?' and '23:42' and celebrates the joys and safety found in healthy romantic love.

Of the track, Rachel shares: "I have had "What A Life" for a while and thought it was super special. I think it ties together the whole EP well and before I move on to my next phase of music. I love being able to express how I feel being in love with someone and feel lucky I've been able to have this experience."

The release rounds out an incredible 2025 for Rachel, along with a handful of live appearances including the Together For Palestine benefit concert at OVO Arena Wembley, All Things Go Festivals in New York and Maryland, plus her debut show in Brazil on 1st October.

2025 also saw Rachel support Sabrina Carpenter's Short n' Sweet arena tour across the UK and Europe, play her own headline tour of the US and a number of festivals including Glastonbury Festival, and collaborated with longtime friends Rizzle Kicks on their single 'Follow Excitement!' and Alemeda on 'Chameleon'. She also garnered her first BRIT Awards nominations for Artist of the Year and Best New Artist, a testament to the success of the release of her critically acclaimed 2024 debut album What A Devastating Turn Of Events.

About Rachel Chinouriri

Rachel Chinouriri is 2025's most exciting British breakout star. With the release of her debut album What A Devastating Turn Of Events she cemented her reputation as one of the UK's most accomplished young songwriters. Making the album was a cathartic experience for Chinouriri: by putting the challenges and joys of her life so far under a microscope she traverses themes of life, death, home and belonging, mental health, love and letting go with unflinching honesty, resulting in a one of the most unique indie pop records in years.

What A Devastating Turn Of Events landed in the Top 20 of the UK Official Charts and led to Rachel securing her first two BRIT Award nominations (Artist Of The Year, Best New Artist), following previous nominations for an Ivor Novello award, multiple Rolling Stone UK awards and being tipped on the BBC's coveted Sound Of poll. Following the album's release she played a triumphant and emotional set on Glastonbury's The Other Stage, sold out her UK headline tour and starts 2025 by supporting Sabrina Carpenter on all dates of her Spring UK and Europe arena tour.

With her fiercely loyal fanbase, the 'Darlings' behind her, and over 4 million monthly Spotify listeners, Chinouriri has clocked up over 289 million global streams to date. Over years of experimenting with musical stylings, highlighted in her exploratory 2021 Four° in Winter project, Rachel began to hone a style totally her own with her 2022 EP Better Off Without, blending her signature delicate vocals with pure indie instrumentation. She has been praised by the likes of The Observer ("brimming with fresh ideas"), NME ("consistently charming"), GQ ("Chinouriri is set to dominate"), BBC Radio 1, Later... With Jools Holland and more. Elsewhere, she's received recognition and support from the likes of Adele, Lewis Capaldi, Sam Fender and Hollywood darling Florence Pugh, who starred in the video for Rachel's single 'Never Need Me'.
